Firstly, I would like to express my deep gratitude to my advisor Asst. Prof. Dr. Tachkorn Wongkumchai and my co-advisor Asst. Prof. Dr. Ntapat Worapongpat. My supervisor takes academic research seriously and rigorously, they give me many good suggestions and assistance which make me understand the research methods and approaches better and deeper.

Secondly, I will express my gratitude to the teachers who have taught us. They attach great importance to teaching. Through studying and exploring professional courses with teachers, I have gained a deeper understanding of the basic theories, research methods, and cutting-edge issues of my major, which provides great help for my future study and research.

Finally, I will thank my family for their silent support. Both my parents were diagnosed with cancer in the first year of my postgraduate study. Despite facing such heavy health challenges, my family did not hesitate to encourage me to pursue a postgraduate degree when they needed my company. Even when my mother was about to leave, she still maintained a strong will. She urged me not to give up my studies and encouraged me to move forward bravely. Without their encouragement and support, I cannot overcome difficulties and achieve my dreams. Their love is a beacon on my forward path and inspires me to constantly move on.
